

ELVIS HATES ME!

1st - 25th August 4 - 5pm at The Zoo - Venue 124

"THE KING IS ALIVE! ALL HAIL THE KING!"

'Horizon Arts are truly the level to which other theatre companies should aim.' The British Theatre Guide - Fringe 2007 ★★★★★

Following the triumphant success of last year's 'My Filthy Hunt' (★★★★★ The Scotsman), Horizon Arts return to The Zoo with their spectacular new Fringe production...

ELVIS HATES ME! - A brand new play written and directed by Philip Stokes.

'Stunning piece of theatre... leaves the audience stunned and almost unable to applaud.' The Scotsman - Fringe 2007 ★★★★★

Elvis is back in the building! Unfortunately there's two of him and it's all shook up! An unhinged nurse is planning to destroy them but her dirty secret may result in the greatest comeback ever! It's hilarious, shocking and totally rocking!

Elvis Hates Me! takes an unnerving look at celebrity obsession in the 21st Century. Razor sharp dialogue meets absurd physical theatre. Provocative, funny, controversial and moving.

'This is just the thing you come to the Fringe to see.'

Three Weeks - Fringe 2006 ★★★★★

"I'm beginning to think you're overrated.
Anyone can carry a tune..."

For more information on the 'Elvis Hates Me' cast, crew or Horizon Arts,
Please visit www.horizon-arts.co.uk